Why join ServiceCorps?

“Giving back is an integral part of who I am, and something to which I am committed to as I begin my professional career. The ServiceCorps program is an ideal opportunity for me to devote time and energy to a nonprofit organization I am passionate about, to network with like-minded people, and to develop new skills, all while knowing I have not taken myself off my corporate track with Citi.”

Fellow’s Title: Corporate Development and Success Counselor

The Challenge

1. No formal/organized format to set up students with volunteers for informational or mock interviews
2. Unsuccessful track record for students securing jobs
3. Due to a large turnover rate of success counselors, there were students left without a counselor

At Bottom Line, I had the incredible opportunity to work both internally with the corporate development team and with the success team doing direct service with our students.

- Objective #1
 - Grow out the Go Far Volunteer program by matching students with mentors in their field of interest.
- Objective #2
 - Help students secure internships and fulltime jobs by reviewing resumes and cover letters.
- Objective #3
 - Take on a caseload of 50 freshman at City College as a success counselor.

I leave this year having a better understanding of just how hard it is to keep a nonprofit running, and also with a whole new respect for people who work with the communities that need our help the most.

Testimonials: Hear from the Fellow & Social Sector Partner

“The saying “you don’t know, what you don’t know” truly came to life for me this year. Working with these students truly opened my eyes to what a bubble I have been in my whole life. I come away from this experience not only more empathetic, and aware of my surroundings, but wanting to continue to learn and help those in our community who can’t afford to help themselves.”

- Rebecca Sheinman, Fellow, Class of 2017

“Rebecca has served Bottom Line this year in numerous capacities. She has aided a caseload of 47 freshman students with academic, personal, financial, and career support. She also collaborated with our development team to strengthen our corporate partnerships and connect more of our students to internship and mentorship opportunities. Through her work, she has contributed greatly to our mission of helping first-generation students persist through college and attain a meaningful career.”

- Courtney NG, Success Team Manager, Bottom Line
